Media Release :: stArt - Student Art 2010

The stArt competition turns five this year and once again we're looking for aspiring student artists and designers to take part.

Students: You could join dozens of students who over the past five years received their first big 'break' in print and online by entering the stArt competition. So stArt gathering your greeting and gift card designs and get ready to enter – competition kicks off March 1, 2010.

2010 stArt Award categories are:
:: Fine Arts (including Painting, Drawing, Printmaking, Intermedia)
:: Photomedia
:: Digital Media (including Graphic Design and Illustration).

stArt invites all student artists currently enrolled in Art and design courses Australia wide to submit new work in all 2-D printable forms. You'll be in the running to win a $200 Co-op Bookshop voucher, have your work published as a greeting card, exhibited online and at participating venues as well as other great prizes to be announced.

Art and Design organizations: Getting behind your students and encouraging them to enter this year's competition will also benefit your organization by showcasing what your courses can produce.

More Info...

stArt is a not-for-profit University Co-operative Bookshop initiative that provides a creative forum for Art and Design students Australia wide. stArt aims to assist in the professional development of students who will soon be entering the workforce as young artists and designers.
Visit www.studentart.com.au for more information.

a University Co-operative Bookshop Ltd Initiative